

May 2015

Dear families,

This letter is about your child's reading level. Recently your child was given a reading assessment called Fountas and Pinnell. During this assessment the teacher listens to your child read a book for accuracy and fluency. After the child reads the book, comprehension questions are asked. Based on the accuracy scores and comprehension scores, students were assigned a reading level. Students at the end of 3rd grade are expected to be at the instructional level P/Q. Instructional level is the level students can read with some support.

_____ instructional reading level is _____ .

The reading goal is (accuracy fluency comprehension).

I recommend finding books between _____ and _____ this summer. It is ok for your child to read a variety of books at many levels. You can use <http://www.scholastic.com/bookwizard/> to find books at this level. Most librarians would be able to help you find books at the correct level too.

I also recommend using Raz kids this summer. <https://www.raz-kids.com/main/Login> The classroom login is lhahn20.

Sincerely,

Ms. Hahn

Reading Chart

<https://www.heinemann.com/fountasandPinnell/handouts/InstructionalLevelExpectationsForReading.pdf>

Types of Questions

<http://marcy.mpls.k12.mn.us/uploads/fpcomprehensionquestionstems.pdf>