ELA

This week we will continue to work on our cursive handwriting. In reading we will focus on identifying different types of fiction/nonfiction. We will also be exploring where authors get their ideas and incorporating this into writing as students expand their own ideas in their writing notebook. They did a wonderful job their first week with Words their Way. We will be taking this week off because of NWEA and reading group testing, but we will resume Words their Way next week! There will, however, be a quiz on the 5 Words of the Week this Friday (9/7).

Math

This week we will continue to explore prime and composite numbers, learn new strategies to become fluent in 121 multiplication facts, and work with tile arrays. Ask your student what an array is and how it can help us discover things about multiplication! Later in the week we will use the double-double-doubles strategy on a number line. I am so impressed with their work and full completion of their home connections this past week! Please continue to support and encourage responsible learning as students complete Home Connections. The homework calendar is updated daily, and your student should also have it written in their assignment notebook as well. :) Another wonderful week of learning is ahead of us!
