Highlights of the Week:

YAY! The class has been working hard and filled up the marble jar! Costume Day will be on Monday for our class. Please read my e-mail for more details.

Daily 5: The class learned the third part of Daily 5 this week. They practiced reading to someone. Everyone was so excited to read with a partner!

Writing: The students started writing their first Small Moment story! The class applied the four steps to How to Write a Story: think of an idea, plan, write, and revise.

Math: The 1st graders have been practicing counting and addition with a number rack. We played several games called Show Me, Ten Frame Flash and Flip and Write. These games helped us become familiar with numbers between 1-20.

Theme: This week, we started Theme (Social Studies/Science) and learned about maps. The class has been working on drawing a map of the classroom for a special guest.

Environmental Education: The class continues to observe and wait for the Birdhouse Gourds dry. Ms. Naomi brought in her personal Birdhouse Gourds to show us what the end product should look like.

Staying Healthy ☺

As the weather continues to change, please continue to encourage your child to stay hydrated, get plenty of rest, and wash his or her hands. For school, please send your child with a light coat as temperatures continue to fluctuate up and down. We hope to say good-bye to the sniffles and coughs as we enter into next week.

Tying Shoes

As we continue to transition in and out of the classroom this year for recess, Solo Spots, Nature Walks, and Specials, please encourage your child to continue practice tying his or her shoes.

Attendance Week Schedule (9/9-9/13)

- Monday - Hat Day
- Tuesday - Sports Wear Day
- Wednesday- Pajama Day
- Thursday- Stuffed Animal Day (must fit in backpack)
- Friday- School Spirit Wear Day (PCCS gear/green/white)
